Drama on Sidewalk of New York

There was a holdup Nov. 3 at a bowling alley on West 50th street, New York city, and police chased three men suspected. Here Patrolman Joseph Shavelson points a revolver at one, identified as James McGrane, 21, with hands up and face to the wall of the Roxy Theatre. Second of the trio, identified as Michael Spillane, 19, wounded by police, lies at the officer's feet. A third man eluded the chase. The bowling alley which was robbed is in left background. The picture was taken by Harris Rodvagin, artist and former Navy photographer, who was passing by as the scene occurred.

Vote to Rule On Reds, Is Viewpoint

Democratic Vote Would Put More in Power, McCarthy Declares in Hookup Rips Into Adlai

Senator Also Assails Three Aides of Gov. Stevenson

Appleton, Wis., Nov. 4 (P)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) told voters of the nation on election eve that as he sees it they'll either get rid of Communists in the government today or get more of them.

He told a nationwide radio audience if they want "a real change and want to get rid of communism and the corrupt mess in Washington, you will elect Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, a Republican Senator and a Republican Congress."

He said a Democratic vote will put more Communists and fellow travelers "into positions of power."

About 1,500 persons—300 under capacity—were in the theatre from which McCarthy made his election eve speech in his home city. He was well cheered.

Voters of Wisconsin today will—in effect—confirm or deny McCarthy's opinion. He is seeking a second term and has made a furious campaign, highlighted by his charges of Communists in government.

McCarthy's senatorial opponent, Thomas E. Fairchild, 39-year-old Democrat who has served a term as Wisconsin's attorney general, has charged the senator is ignoring issues vital to Wisconsin while "crying wolf" on one topic—communism. But to all intents it is that one topic on which Wisconsin will judge McCarthy.

Attacks Stevenson

In his speech last night, McCarthy attacked Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, by ripping into three of his "advisers." The three—Bernard Devoto, editor of Harper's Magazine; Arthur Schlesinger Jr., Harvard professor, and James Wechsler, editor of the New York Post—also were McCarthy's targets when the senator gave his "cold documentation" of Stevenson's record in a speech at Chicago Oct. 27.

McCarthy accused Devoto of urging in an article in Harper's that "no one give the FBI information on Communists in government."

McCarthy went on, "I ask the American people, especially good, loyal Democrats, when you go to the polls remember Stevenson said 'judge me by the advisers I select' and then selected a top adviser who says if you know about communism, if you know about treason, don't tell the FBI."

Sees Him in Big Post

"What will his (Devoto's) job be if a calamity occurs tomorrow and Stevenson is elected. Certainly he'll be kept on in an important post in government."

(Devoto, who has said McCarthy quoted him out of context, declared last week that "everyone who has read my works knows I am one of the most anti-Communists of American writers. His only comment last night was 'McCarthy is a liar.'")

McCarthy again accused Schlesinger of advocating that Communists be allowed to teach in our schools. As for Wechsler, the Senator repeated that "he publicly admitted that both he and his wife belonged to the Young Communist League."

Schlesinger commented at Cambridge, Mass., last night that "as for Communists and fellow travelers in universities, I fought them

Allied Troops Stop Red Drive in Korea

So Now We're Pravda! (An Editorial)

The campaign is over, but unfortunately certain phases are not, probably never will be so long as in "liberal" minds unfairness takes precedence over truth, recrimination over justice.

Last night a local candidate for an important elective post—United States Representative for this district—remarked in a wind-up speech that The Freeman ranks with Pravda, the Soviet organ devoted to official Russian propaganda.

That man is a Democrat and long has claimed association with so-called progressive and liberal policies of government. We have never quarreled with his political opinions; he has been publicized plentifully in these columns.

But the payoff comes when he makes the rash assertion that The Freeman has been unfair to the Democrats in this campaign. Therefore, in abrupt conclusion and dismissal of his senseless statement, we invite him or any delegated representative to take paper, pencil and ruler to see what The Freeman gave free in this campaign to his party. We could give those figures, but in justice to fair-minded members of his party, we shall refrain.

Now wouldn't he look silly! As a matter of cold, hard fact he was the only Democrat who personally asked The Freeman for anything in this campaign—and he got it in its entirety.

Pravda, he says? . . . Well, Joe, what do you know?

No Immediate Hopes Of Reopening Forests

Albany, Nov. 4 (P)—The State says it has "no immediate hopes" for reopening New York's dangerously dry forests to the public.

Rainfall Sunday night and early Monday did little to relieve the serious danger of forest fires, which already have ravaged thousands of acres of state woodlands, the Conservation Department said yesterday.

Dry weather was predicted for today.

Gov. Dewey ordered the state preserves closed and hunting seasons suspended at midnight Sunday.

The order, issued yesterday in New York city by Water Commissioner Donnick F. Paduano, also banned fishing in the reservoirs. However, five Erie county parks which had been closed Saturday were to be reopened today. Parks Commissioner W. Oliver Walter of Buffalo said yesterday's rainfall had moderated the fire threat there.

Ike Wins, 15-0

Pointe aux Barques, Mich., Nov. 4 (P)—Traditionally first to report and traditionally Republican, this little eastern Michigan village lost no time today starting the GOP ticket and presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower off with a 15-0 vote. In 1948, the vote was 14-0 for Governor Dewey.

Mrs. Chase Dies

Skowhegan, Me., Nov. 4 (P)—Mrs. Carrie E. Chase, 76, mother of Maine Republican Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, died last night after a long illness. At her bedside was Sen. Smith, who had been scheduled to appear at an Eisenhower rally in Boston. Several other members of the family also were present.

Wicks 74 Per Cent

Students at MJM also gave Senator Arthur H. Wicks 74 per cent of their votes to 26 per cent for Democratic candidate William F. Hagan in the race for New York state senator. Howard C. St. (Continued on Page 16, Col. 4)

Reservoir Areas Closed By New York's Order

New York, Nov. 4 (P)—Water Commissioner Donnick F. Paduano issued an order yesterday closing the Catskill and Croton reservoir watershed areas to the public as a precaution against fires in the dry woodlands.

The commissioner acted following an order by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey closing state forests to the public because of fire hazard resulting from a prolonged dry spell.

Commissioner Paduano's order also will bar fishing in reservoirs.

Po'keepsie Man, 21, Held in Jersey in Officer's Shooting

Police Lieutenant Wounded While Investigating Shooting; Not Hurt Badly

Secaucus, N. J., Nov. 4 (P)—A Poughkeepsie, N. Y., man is being held by Hudson county police in connection with an investigation of the wounding of a police lieutenant.

Lt. William Sierfeld said Richard Carlock, 21, of 42 Bement avenue, Poughkeepsie, was picked up while hitchhiking near here yesterday when police were scouring the meadowland area for the person who shot the policeman Sunday night.

Sierfeld said Carlock was carrying a fully loaded .32 caliber Beretta automatic, several screw drivers, wide adhesive tape, and a flashlight with the lens darkened.

Admits No Connection

He said Carlock had told police he was absent without leave from the army at Fort Benning, Ga., but did not admit any connection with the wounding of county police Lieut. Edmund Burke.

Burke was hit by a .22 caliber bullet when he got out of his patrol car to investigate the case.

General Is Victor In Straw Polling At Two Schools

Kingston High School and the Myron J. Michael School gave Eisenhower an overwhelming victory in a straw vote taken this morning.

The total vote for Eisenhower was 1,672 and for Stevenson 605.

Michael Flanagan, president of the KHS student council, said Eisenhower received 1,198 votes to 437 for Stevenson at the high school.

Principal Harry Gumaer reported the Eisenhower vote at the MJM was 474 votes against 168 for Stevenson. Eisenhower received 74 per cent of the MJM total and Stevenson 26 per cent.

Ike Gives Pledge

Eisenhower pledged to work for "a just and lasting peace secured by the strength of the free world." He said he is dedicated to "one supreme course"—the winning of world peace in a struggle against "the menace of Godless communism."

Today the Republican nominee was back in New York to cast his vote and await the outcome.

President Truman, speaking from Kansas City on the same hookup with Stevenson last night, said today's voting may decide "whether we achieve lasting peace or be led into a third world war."

Mitchell Predicts Win

Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, predicted Stevenson would win with 418 of the 531 electoral votes. A total of 266 is needed for election.

Total Seen Far Beyond Earlier Top

Ballots by 55 Millions Expected; Candidates Conclude Furious Bid for Election

Principals Speak

Boston Address Made by GOP Nominee, His Opponent in Chicago

By JACK BELL (Associated Press Staff Writer)

A record-breaking cascade of ballots is forecast today as Americans choose either Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson as the 33rd man to become their President.

As the final crescendo of a furious campaign died away only a few hours before the sunrise opening of some polls on the East coast, the outcome of a see-saw battle between entrenched Democrats and office-hungry Republicans was in doubt.

While the world looked on in mixed hope and apprehension, some 55 million of the 75,579,785 eligible voters were expected to turn out in generally mild weather to decide basically either, with the Republicans, that "it's time for a change" or, with the Democrats, that they "never had it so good."

It is generally predicted today's vote will top the 1940 record of 49,820,312 set in the Franklin D. Roosevelt-Wendell Willkie election. In 1948 when President Truman defeated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the total was 48,833,680.

Review of Korean War

The Republican call for a change involved not only an end to what the GOP labelled as communism, corruption and inflation at home, but a review of the handling of the Korean war. This included a dramatic promise of a personal visit by Eisenhower to Korea—probably his strongest late-campaign bid for votes.

Against this Stevenson pounded hard on the prosperity issue, painting a dark picture of possible depression if the Republicans win. He promised a cleanup in Washington, "merciless" prosecution of Communists found in government, flayed the GOP old guard as "isolationist" and said Eisenhower held out "false hopes" of a Korean settlement.

The two presidential candidates ended their campaigns shortly before midnight with nationwide radio-TV broadcasts. Eisenhower from Boston and Stevenson from Chicago.

Stevenson said he believed the Democratic party should be continued in office because "it is the party of no one, because it is the party of everyone." He said he did not believe with nationwide economic well-being could be safely entrusted to the Republican party—"the party of fear, inaction, boom and bust."

Eisenhower pledged to work for "a just and lasting peace secured by the strength of the free world." He said he is dedicated to "one supreme course"—the winning of world peace in a struggle against "the menace of Godless communism."

Today the Republican nominee was back in New York to cast his vote and await the outcome.

President Truman, speaking from Kansas City on the same hookup with Stevenson last night, said today's voting may decide "whether we achieve lasting peace or be led into a third world war."

The first turn to count its vote, normally Republican Sharon, N. H., gave Eisenhower 32 and Stevenson 14. Four years ago Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican, received 21 of Sharon's votes to four for Truman and two for Henry Wallace, the Progressive party candidate.

As usual, both sides publicly professed confidence of victory for tickets that would carry Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California into office as vice president with Eisenhower and would make Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama Stevenson's vice president.

Mitchell Predicts Win

Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, predicted Stevenson would win with 418 of the 531 electoral votes. A total of 266 is needed for election.

Surrender Notes Seen in Cellblocks

Warden Says Not Too Many Are Holding Out in Penitentiary

Columbus, O., Nov. 4 (P)—Several more surrender notes fluttered early today from four besieged cellblocks of Ohio Penitentiary, where 1,600 rioting convicts have been locked since Sunday.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said at an early morning news conference he believed "not too many are holding out." Heavily armed state patrolmen and national guardsmen still stood at their posts awaiting a complete surrender.

One prisoner has been killed, four others and a state patrolman wounded in sporadic battling which has occurred since penitentiary inmates started a riot and fire Friday night. Damage is estimated at almost a million dollars.

No Food Given

The prisoners in cellblocks G, H, I and K haven't been fed since Sunday. They were without heat during last night's near freezing temperature. Heat was turned on in the cellblocks today.

The warden explained he was not trying to make things "as miserable as possible" for the men. He also disclosed between 600 and 800 penitentiary inmates—the less violent type—will be moved to Camp Perry, on the shores of Lake Erie. The prison houses more than 4,000 convicts.

Their evacuation will make it possible for at least part of the rioting prisoners to be moved, if and when they surrender. The locks on their cells were broken during rioting.

Alvis said he had not talked to the rioters since Sunday. He (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Absentee Votes Could Decide Close Election

Washington, Nov. 4 (P)—If today's presidential election is as close as some predict, it is remotely possible the outcome could hinge on absentee votes and the final results might not be known until Nov. 21.

This could happen if:

1. The national vote is so close the outcome could depend on California's 32 electoral votes—and some have said this is possible. (It takes 255 electoral votes to win, regardless of the popular vote.)

2. The California vote is as close as it was in 1948, when President Truman got a total of 1,913,134 to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's 1,895,269—a difference of only 17,865.

It is estimated that California's absentee vote is running from 150,000 up—and state law requires that absentee ballots remain sealed until Nov. 20. Actual counting begins the morning of Nov. 21.

This absentee vote could swing California's total, and thus name the next President of the United States.

In many states, absentee votes are tabulated along with other ballots Election Day. Exceptions besides California include Missouri

County Court Term Is Convened and Calendar Made Up

Extra Panel of Jurors Called for Nov. 10; Counsel Assigned in Five Cases

The November trial term of County Court was convened Monday afternoon by County Judge John M. Cashion, a day calendar was made up for next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the 18 jurors who remained after excuses were exercised were dismissed until that time. An extra panel of 12 jurors was drawn for attendance next Monday at 2 p. m.

There will be another call of the civil calendar next Monday afternoon and the criminal calendar will also be called at that time.

Counsel Assigned

Counsel was assigned in five criminal cases in which defendants stated they had no funds to hire an attorney.

Robert Nelson, Jr., 18, accused by the grand jury of assault, second degree, and violation of Section 1897, Sub. 5a had Francis Martocci assigned. Twenty days were allowed to make further motions.

In the case of William Henry Jones, 60, of Catskill, who had been employed at local hotels, Frank Campechiano was assigned. Jones is accused of grand larceny, first degree; burglary, this degree, and unlawful entry alleged to have been committed on August 6. Items alleged to have been stolen to large captain Frank LaValle, drowned in the Rondout creek, were found on Jones when sheriff's office men arrested him.

Myron Kawalko, 31, formerly of Ellenville, who stands charged with grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been committed on August 22, has Andrew J. Cook, Jr., assigned. Counsel has 20 days to make motions in the case.

Paul John Richards, 16, Kingston, accused of third degree burglary, has Arthur A. Davis, Jr., assigned.

Harold L. Every, 17, Kingston, charged with third degree burglary and unlawful entry, had previously been represented by

Breakfast Line Guarded

Determined state highway patrolmen, left, watch as Ohio Penitentiary convicts leave a dining hall in Columbus, Nov. 3, following breakfast. The prisoners shown are from cellblocks A and B, involved in the riot and fire of Oct. 31, but quiet as this picture was taken. Week-end disorders in the prison centered in cellblocks G, H, I and K.

There are striking similarities between some ancient Egyptian religious writings and portions of the Gospels.

PLATTEKILL

Plattekill, Nov. 4.—The Plattekill Mothers' Club met recently at the school to formulate plans for the annual Christmas bazaar and supper Wednesday evening, Nov. 19. Mrs. Arthur Dunn appointed Mrs. Morris Jacobowitz, who as chairman of general arrangements, will have the following committee to assist her: Mrs. John Labriola, Mrs. Delphin Bilbao, Mrs. Myron Foster, Mrs. Lester Upright, Mrs. John Klein, Mrs. Samuel Cohen, Mrs. Charles Costello and Mrs. George Sisti, Jr. A committee meeting was held last week at the home of Mrs. Jacobowitz. Refreshment committee was composed of Mrs. Arthur Dunn, Mrs. Charles Costello, Mrs. Frank Martin and Mrs. Grant Evans.

Local members of the Ulster County Home Bureau interested in history and folklore attended an interesting meeting last Tuesday evening at the county office in Kingston. Organization of a group of people interested in the subject was discussed. The project, "Holiday Breads of Many Lands," will be demonstrated at the Ellenville Methodist Church on Wednesday, Nov. 5, at 1:30. Those interested are advised to contact local members for transportation.

A Democratic rally was held Friday evening at Villa Garcia when Thomas J. Plunkett, candidate for district attorney of Ulster county, was guest speaker. Members of the Willing Workers Society of the Plattekill Methodist Church held a party at the church on Friday evening, for the purposes of increasing the treasury fund.

Mrs. Ira Merwin and Gertrude Kopaski attended the meeting of the County Youth Committee at the Rosendale Grange when plans were made for a Grange Youth Jamboree at Rosendale November 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Onufry Orlovski of this locality and Andrew Montrolo of Clintondale were the program committee appointed by Mrs. Lee Rognon, president of the town of Plattekill Civic Association, for the first annual open house social at Villa Garcia Saturday, Nov. 1. The event was open to the public and featured entertainment, dancing and refreshments. No admission charge was made.

Willis Sheeley, 88, was recently honored with a birthday party at the home of his cousins Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Larcom here. Seventeen guests from Newburgh, Walden, Wallkill and Sundown were present to celebrate the occasion.

Members of the St. Charles Church in Ellenville, who are sponsoring a spaghetti and meatball supper Thursday evening at the parish house in Gardiner, on Sunday the regular Communion Day children attending parochial schools and public elementary schools were in attendance.

The committee in charge of the bazaar planned by members of the Plattekill Mothers' Club for Wednesday evening, Nov. 19, include Mrs. Grant Evans, chairman, Mrs. Milton Van Duser, Mrs. Bernard Kopaski, Mrs. Gladys Pedersen, Mrs. Bruce Huggins and Mrs. Edna Huggins.

Additional instructors are needed for the released time religious education program of the Plattekill Methodist Church which is now in its third week session. Pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grade will receive such instructions each Monday, from 2 to 3 p. m. at the local church.

The November-December committee of Plattekill Grange will serve a supper, present an entertainment and conduct a dance at the Grange Hall Saturday evening, Nov. 15. Co-chairmen for the event will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grimm. The annual installation of officers was conducted at the regular meeting held Saturday evening in the hall with Past Master Wilson Edmunds in charge. A supper preceded the meeting. Installation ceremonies were conducted by the members of the service and hospitality committee.

Invitations have been issued to the wedding of Miss Maureen Fleming of this place and Bruce Miller of Kingston, at the Catholic Church in Rosendale Saturday, Nov. 8.

Officers installed at Plattekill Grange recently were as follows: James Wilkin, master; George Daley, overseer; Gertrude Kopaski, lecturer; Henry Barclay, steward; Ralph Jenkins, assistant steward; Mrs. Samuel Dransfield, chaplain; Leander Minard, treasurer; Mrs. Ira Merwin, secretary; Ross Vandemark, Gate Keeper; Mrs. Burton Ward, Ceres; Mrs. Merton Jenkins, Pomona; Mrs. Grant Evans, Flora; Mrs. James Wilkin, lady assistant steward; Elmore Lozier, flag bearer. Installation ceremonies were in charge of Past Master Wilson Edmunds. The meeting was preceded by a baked ham supper served by the service and hospitality committee of the Grange. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Henney of Little Britain, formerly of Plattekill, when Mr. Tenney served a master of the Grange from 1920 to 1924, were honored guests.

Members of the dartball team welcomed members to attend the session with the Lake Katrine team on Tuesday evening and the announcement was made that tickets for the turkey supper scheduled for Saturday evening, Nov. 15, were now available. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grimm as co-chairmen will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Birdsall, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Lippincott, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Underhill, Mr. and Mrs. Onufry Orlovski, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller and Mr. and Mrs. August Perry.

The new ultra-modern house of Mr. and Mrs. George Sisti, Jr., is nearing completion on Route 32 north of Plattekill. Fred and Harold Bernard of Modena were the contractors in charge.

SOUTH AMERICAN DEMOCRACY TAKES A BEATING—As shown by Newsmap above, strong man governments are becoming the vogue in South America where it is generally considered good politics to run on a "Throw the Yankees out!" platform. Poverty and other internal disorders have been blamed on the United States, and the Communists join with the ultra-nationalists in screaming "Yanqui Imperialism." Colombia, the only South American nation with troops in Korea, is on the verge of a political civil war.

ULSTER PARK

Ulster Park, Nov. 4.—Morning services at 9:45 a. m., Sunday with the Rev. Harry E. Christiansa, pastor, in charge. Sunday school at 11 a. m. Week day school of religious instruction from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., Thursday.

The regular meeting of Ulster Grange 569 will be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday. The committee for refreshments and care of the hall this month is composed of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gendreau, Mr. and Mrs. N. The pupils of School District 2 enjoyed a Halloween party Friday afternoon at the school house. Friends and parents were guests. The Mothers' Club provided entertainment, supervised games and served refreshments.

The Grange supper Saturday evening was well attended. Mrs. William Hendrikx, Mrs. Gaudette and Mrs. Ed McBroom served on the supper committee. Mrs. A. V. Schoonmaker was treasurer. Constance Blavis and Mrs. Hendrikx had charge of the fancy article table.

The Reformed Church consistory met in the church Monday evening.

Mirror, Guild Agree

New York, Nov. 4.—Federal Mediation Commissioner J. R. Mandelbaum today announced settlement of a dispute between the New York Daily Mirror and the CIO American Newspaper Guild. A strike had been scheduled for 11 a. m. Mandelbaum said "complete agreement" was reached at 1 a. m. The two-year agreement grants wage increases of $4-$6 weekly, new minimums from $45 to $130, time and a half overtime pay after a seven-hour day or 35-hour week, four weeks vacation after 12 years and 56-week severance pay. Increases are retroactive to Oct. 9.

Surrender Notes

would not say if he intended to try to talk to them.

Awaits Surrender

It appeared as if he was awaiting for an unconditional surrender.

The warden would not commit himself as to the causes of the riot except to say, "I've been feeling this thing for eight months."

Two hundred National Guardsmen were moved into the prison after yesterday's outburst of gunfire.

Their setup was such that escaping prisoners would be caught in a crossfire. Col. George Mingle of the state highway patrol said the rioting convicts "better not get in sight."

A few shots were fired during the late afternoon and evening as prisoners now and then came out of their cells.

The prisoners broke lock off their cell doors in earlier general destruction, but heavily armed patrolmen and National Guardsmen guarded all cellblock entrances.

The convicts' surrender notes were scrawled on pieces of cloth and paper.

State highway patrolmen said their shooting yesterday was done in self defense. Mingle said the officers fired when convicts started throwing pieces of concrete, iron and other debris at them.

The prisoners didn't stop when ordered to do so, Mingle said, and the patrolmen opened fire.

Wolfson Arraigned On ABC Charges

Accused of selling alcoholic beverages without a license, Samuel Wolfson, 64, of Oak Ridge, Ellenville, was arraigned on Monday before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel on a charge of violating Section 100 of the ABC law.

An adjournment to Wednesday was granted for the purpose of obtaining counsel.

Troopers of the Ellenville station said they found 10 five gallon cans, six gallon jugs and several smaller containers of a beverage which Wolfson termed "Stump Hole" in the defendant's home on Monday morning.

Augustus, Nero, and other Roman emperors used lotteries to finance building projects, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Couple Is Injured In Bridge Crash

Two persons were injured about 7 a. m. today when their car crashed into the rock wall at the west end of the Mid-Hudson bridge.

Highland state police said Israel Hecht, 54, of Loch Sheldrake, and his wife, Ida, 50, were taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie. The full extent of their injuries had not been determined but troopers said Hecht, who was driving, suffered possible fractures of the ribs and nose and Mrs. Hecht had lacerations and contusions. Both were apparently suffering from shock, troopers reported.

The car was traveling west on the bridge, failed to make a sharp turn at the west end and struck the rocks with the left front end of the vehicle, troopers said.

Do You Remember
By SOPHIE MILLER

A little one sheet illustrated pamphlet was put out for the 300th Birthday Celebration, 1652-1952 Tercentenary. There is a picture of Stuyvesant and the old Dutch Church yard, with the Gov. Clinton Monument showing in the yard. Also in back of Stuyvesant is, I think, the old Senate House. Historically, I think, those items pertained to Kingston until later. Although Stuyvesant was appointed director-general of New Netherlands in 1646, I don't think he came up this way until around 1658 to instruct in the building of the Stockade. But still the pamphlet is interesting.

Again I do not entirely agree with the line of explanation under the maps which says: "Land now occupied by the City of Kingston, N. Y., was deeded by Indians to Thomas Chambers on June 5, 1652." Historians disagree warmly with the above so far as I have heard, and read as the land Chambers had a deed for was not on this side of the Rondout Creek, but what I do say, I was not there. Of course, the illustration of the Old Dutch Church in 1652 when even a community had not been formed to make a quorum not alone build the first gathering place, seems a little strange to me. Of course the old Dutch were religious and when the settlement was established several years later they first gathered in each other's home and then built a church. But that is beside the point, I still think this pamphlet worth saving.

Later on in the "Points of Interest." They do come out and say as I mention above. "Old Dutch Church, founded in 1659.... Senate House built in 1676." They give the points of interest according to streets; so that a visitor could take a tour around and see these old stone houses. Historical markers are near each one and just following this list would make it a worthwhile trip to Kingston for a stranger. For instance on Wall street they suggest, "Court House, First Governor inaugurated and First Session State Courts, 1777. Present building 1818." Also, "Old Dutch Church, Founded 1659. George Clinton, first Governor, buried in churchyard. Present building 1852." It is the just a story old. At 255 Wall street they mention Dr. Elmdorf House, 1726. At 171 Wall street, the Jacobus Massien House. At 97, the Van

TRADE NOW FOR THE DEAL OF THE YEAR ON A FUTURE-STYLED MERCURY

THINK of it this way. The car you are now driving will never be worth more money than it is right now. In a few short weeks it could be a year older by automobile trade-in standards.

That's why it's more important than ever that you trade for a Mercury. For this is the one car in its class that eliminates the worry of buying a new car that may soon look out of date. Mercury's fore-runner styling is designed to anticipate the future... is planned to stay years ahead of the calendar.

And don't forget Mercury's unequalled record for economy. On the official ton-mile basis—with optional overdrive—it's twice been Sweepstakes winner of the Mobilgas Economy Run. Pounded for pound Mercury is the most economical car in America today. And that means the best balance you can buy of comfort plus power, beauty plus economy.

Come in and let's talk figures. We honestly believe we can map out a deal that will open your eyes... make you glad you didn't wait any longer.

AUTHORS BUILT A POOR CASE

Every four years the question arises whether American newspapers give their readers balanced coverage of the presidential campaign. This year, as before, they are charged with favoring the Republicans in their news columns.

Recently a group of 96 U. S. authors accuse the American press of offering a distorted picture of the Eisenhower-Stevenson battle to their readers. They based the charge on study of 26 papers in six states.

Be it noted here that the authors are not saying these papers simply prefer Eisenhower editorially. They assert that various journalistic tricks are used to play him up on the news pages, and play Stevenson down.

Fortunately, in this argument we need not rely on mere guesswork to challenge the authors. For the Associated Press has made its own study of 115 U. S. papers, and concludes that the Democrats, not the Republicans, enjoy a pronounced advantage in volume and display of news coverage in this campaign.

The AP's box score showed that 47 per cent of the papers surveyed gave the Democrats dominant coverage, 32 per cent gave Ike and Stevenson an equal break, and just 21 per cent actually favored Eisenhower in news treatment.

A majority of these papers explicitly prefer Ike for President, yet the evidence indicates they are leaning over backwards to provide fair coverage of the news.

Some critics may contend that only President Truman's entry into the 1952 fray has balanced accounts in many cases, or tipped the scales for the Democrats. A few even suggest that pro-Eisenhower editors have deliberately played up Mr. Truman's flaying attacks on Ike in hope of discrediting the Democratic cause.

To the latter charge, the question may be countered: "What would be said if the President's assaults were muffled by the press?"

As for the other point, it ought to be remembered that the party in the White House automatically enjoys superior publicity, not only during a campaign but throughout the intervening years. When the President speaks, whether he makes sense or utters wild charges, it is news.

So when a President is himself a candidate, that fact by itself helps to balance news coverage accounts. And when, as in 1952, he is a sort of added starter in the campaign, he multiplies that advantage. He can't be ignored either as President or as whistle-stopper, and Stevenson can't be ignored as candidate.

The 96 authors have built themselves a poor case. Very possibly what they understand as balanced coverage would really be treatment slanted to favor the man of their own choice.

PROMISES IGNORED

The fact that West Germans have not forgotten the kidnapping by East Berlin Reds of the Free Jurists' Association member, Dr. Walter Linse, is apparent in their quick, cool reaction to an East German Delegation's bid for Reich unity. Other things were mentioned by the Bonn government to the Soviet delegation such as the thousands of Germans imprisoned in Eastern Germany for so-called political crimes. The Bonn government also questioned the Reds about "genuinely free elections" in the Soviet zone.

Obviously the proposals for a united Germany are nothing more nor less than reshaped Communist propaganda, an echo of the Kremlin's voice. They offered nothing new to West Germans except to dangle the tantalizing promise of freedom for Germans held prisoners of war in Russia.

The West German government has not been duped by the East German promises. There must be something to the Mohammedan religion. In its sacred book, the Koran, this passage occurs: "By the mercy of Allah, there shall be no speeches at the heavenly banquets."

Sleep apparently is a peculiar process. It costs nothing, is free for the asking, can be

KOREA FOREVER

As long as Americans are getting killed in Korea, that war remains our major problem. It need no longer be called a UN police action; its dimensions are those of a major war. The prolongation of this war could for this country become a major catastrophe, as it keeps us in a state of permanent war, mounting expenses, increasing taxes and deepening the inflation.

It is necessary to appraise Korea from the standpoint of the Soviet war strategy. The Russians would prefer not to go to war with us. They really favor peace. Their strategy is to keep the United States in a condition of constant internal trouble, amounting to a blood-letting operation. The result could be a deterioration of the American economy no matter which political party is in control of the government, and a collapse which the Russians believe will bring on the revolution.

The Russians believed that a depression would hit the United States in 1946 or 1947. That did not happen. The Korean War, instigated by the Kremlin, was designed not to win the peninsula, which does not matter much, but rather to imperil Japan and to involve the United States in a permanent war economy.

Our statesmen, shocked by this action, did not appraise this war correctly, as, for reasons not apparent, they have never correctly grasped the meaning of the Russian program of world conquest. The result is that they attempted to meet the Korean situation with conventional army and conventional methods. Thus far they have failed either to win the war or even to achieve a truce.

It was, to any student of Soviet strategy, unbelievable that our government would walk into Malik's trap for a truce. Long experience has shown that a truce can be a preparation for a new phase of a war; it can also be a time for reorganization and preliminary conversations with the object of leading to a truce, lasting 16 months and achieving nothing, must be regarded as a preparation for an intensification of the war. And that is precisely what is now happening in Korea.

Yet, a British magazine, "The Fortnightly," last summer, could say:

"Behind all other difficulties lies the supreme question of mutual antagonism between the United States and Soviet Russia. It is highly doubtful whether China is the Russian cat's paw that Americans believe her to be. That is not a position which Chinese pride would accept, and it is important to remember that the Chinese Communists are wholly the authors of their own success; it owed nothing to material help from Russia, and China's position is entirely different from that of the European satellites."

Nothing could be more untrue or more unrealistic. The Chinese Communists have been part of the Kremlin's apparatus since 1920. They have been for 30 years now an organ of the Third International and its successors. Russia in 1924 sent Michael Borodin and General Bleucher (Galsens) to China to found a Kuomintang-Communist government which succeeded, under Chiang Kai-shek, to seize power. Chiang broke with them in 1927 but the Communist army and political organization remained intact.

Even after the defeat of Japan, it was the seizure by the Russians, during the seven days that they were in the Far Eastern war, of the great stores of supplies left by the Japanese Kwantung Army that gave the Communists the means to defeat the Chinese Nationalists who had, in effect, been disarmed by General George Marshall's program of truce between the two forces.

After Marshall's truce, the Chinese Communists were in a position to defeat Chiang, which they were not in before the truce. While the Nationalists were receiving no aid from this country, the Communists were being rearmed with the best equipment Japan had ever produced.

The effect of the truce was that it was sufficiently flexible to take advantage of its opportunities. The United States, having no imperialistic ambitions, seeks no opportunities. Soviet Russia moves into any soft spot that develops anywhere on her borders. Once Manchuria came into Communist hands, China and Korea became Communist satellites.

Korea could be used as a stepping stone to Japan and to pinning the United States down in a war that cannot be fought without involving China and possibly Russia in that war.

This is our problem and it requires a sensible, nationalistic solution.

THE 1,200 CALORIE REDUCING DIET

"Most people with obesity (being greatly overweight), but without disease, eat too much, particularly of carbohydrates (sugar, bread, potato). Such persons will often say they have small appetites, that they never eat a good meal, and so on. Patient questioning will generally get such information as that the individual always tastes when cooking (in this way many calories may be taken during the day), is 'fool of sweet stuffs,' or eats a lot of potatoes and bread."

I am quoting Rose M. Simmons, S.R.N., dietitian to the Hammersmith Hospital (Post Graduate School) in her book "Overweight and Underweight." The book records cases in which while the diet proper was followed at meals, one overweight ate a pound of chocolates daily and another half-pound of acid drops.

What we would call a 1,200 calorie diet in America is outlined in the book consisting of 240 calories of carbohydrates, 280 calories of proteins and 630 calories of fat.

Breakfast—Tea, milk (5 tablespoons), 2 eggs or a piece of fish or a thin slice of bacon; 1 wheat or other biscuit, piece of butter, the size of half a walnut; tomatoes 1/4 pound, or any kind of fresh fruit.

Dinner—Lean meat or cheese—about 3 ounces; a small plateful of green vegetables or salad; one small apple, orange, pear or grapefruit; one wheat or other biscuit.

Tea (mid-afternoon)—Tea, 5 tablespoons of milk; one egg; one wheat or other biscuit; piece of butter size of half a walnut.

Supper (6:30 to 7 p.m.)—Steamed fish (about 6 ounces) or lean meat or cheese; butter size of two walnuts; a good plateful of green vegetables or salad; one wheat or other biscuit. This is about 1,168 calories. Sugar, cakes, pastries, puddings, jams, bread, potatoes or fried food must not be eaten.

Plenty of green vegetables, salad and all fresh fruit, except bananas, may be eaten. Bananas are rich in sugar.

When the patient approaches his normal weight, the above diet can be increased. Add first one pint of milk daily and then bread and potatoes, regulating the amount of bread and potatoes to the loss or gain in weight.

Sugar should never be given in the diet of the obese patient.

The 1,200 calorie diet is sufficient for the office man, or housewife with help.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—As one of the hottest presidential campaigns in years comes to a close, here is the confidential survey prepared for General Eisenhower, Governor Dewey, and the top echelon of the Republican party. It shows the Republicans confident of winning 213 "certain" electoral votes, plus 128 "probable" votes, or a total of 341. It requires 266 to win.

The GOP survey puts the two key states of New York and California in the "probable" column, though the Democrats claim they will carry both. Illinois, Stevenson's home state, is placed in the "certain" GOP column, while Massachusetts is placed in the "possible" column.

The border states of Kentucky, West Virginia and Oklahoma are conceded to the Democrats, according to the secret GOP survey, though Maryland is chalked up as "certain" for the Republicans. Another border state, Tennessee, is marked "not too hopeful" though Missouri, home state of President Truman, is listed as "probable" for the GOP.

Texas, on the other hand, where Ike spent so much time and effort, is conceded to the Democrats. Michigan, though considered "probable," is listed as "slipped during past week," while Minnesota, also listed as "probable," carries the notation "removed from sure column because of effectiveness of Democratic speaking campaigns in Minnesota." Truman, Kauffman and Sparkman, besides Stevenson, have toured Minnesota recently.

Massachusetts is marked with the notation: "Even if Lodge beaten, it's hoped Ike will run enough ahead of ticket to win." This refers to Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who has a tough race against Congressman Jack Kennedy, who is generally predicted the winner.

New York is tabbed: "Expect to win if upstate organizations get the vote out."

State-by-State Survey

The GOP survey has been gathered from local state leaders and members of the general's party aboard his train. Here is the breakdown state-by-state:

Conceded to the Democrats—Alabama 11 electoral votes; Arkansas 8; Georgia 12; Kentucky 10; Louisiana 10; Mississippi 8; North Carolina 14; Oklahoma 8;

Rhode Island 4; South Carolina 8; Texas 24; West Virginia 5; total 125.

Certain for the Republicans—Colorado 6; Connecticut 8; Delaware 3; Idaho 4; Illinois 27; Indiana 13; Iowa 10; Kansas 6; Maine 5; Maryland 9; Nebraska 6; New Hampshire 4; New Jersey 16; North Dakota 4; Ohio 25; Oregon 6; Pennsylvania 32; South Dakota 4; Utah 4; Vermont 3; Wisconsin 12; Wyoming 3; total 212.

Probable for the Republicans—California 32; Michigan 20; Minnesota 11; Missouri 13; Montana 4; Nevada 3; New York 45; total 128.

Possible for the Republicans—Arizona 4; Florida 10; Massachusetts 16; New Mexico 4; Tennessee 11; Virginia 12 (considered even money); Washington 9; total 66.

Truman and John L. Lewis

While President Truman was escorting his new-found friend, John L. Lewis, on a personal tour of the White House the other night, he let drop the following: "Did you realize, John, that if the Republicans should be elected and Taft should die, Eisenhower would be President?"

Harry Moses, representing the coal operators, who was with the two men, did not join in the ensuing laughter.

Mr. Truman's wisecracks followed a relatively brief but extremely important conference, the results of which are the subject of further negotiations probably resulting in an increase in the eventual cost of coal.

Those who attended the White House meeting insist that there was no deal between Truman and Lewis to increase wages. Harry Moses of the operators was with them throughout. As far as can be ascertained, here is a play-by-play account of what happened.

David Cole, the federal mediator, opened the meeting with a plea that the Wage Stabilization Board, which ruled against the $1.90 wage increase, had over-looked certain facts and had been unfair to the miners.

Cole pointed out that the miners worked only 200 days a year, had no fringe benefits such as paid holidays or paid vacation; and finally that they had greatly increased production. The Bureau of Labor Statistics, he pointed out, showed that production had been increased 14 per cent in two years, that the industry was at its highest peak, and that this was a tribute to John L. Lewis and the operators for pushing mechanization.

Cole also dwelt upon the hazards of mining and the heavy accident rate in the mines.

The President then turned to Harry Moses. "Let's hear from the operators," he said.

Moses, who represents H. C. Frick & Co. and some of the biggest mines in the nation, said that the miners and mine operators had been working for several months to draw up a contract and that their agreement was an excellent example of free and open bargaining. He said they had dismissed fringe benefits because Lewis didn't want them. He preferred cash, instead.

The steelworkers and other labor groups, he argued, had received fringe benefits which were the equivalent of the 40 cents He produces 7 1/2 tons per man daily compared with the British production of 1 ton per man per day.

John L. was then called upon. He gave a brief sermon on economic production, pointing out that the U. S. is the greatest coal producer in the world and the American miner the most efficient. He produces 7 1/2 tons per man daily compared with the British production of 1 ton per man per day.

"Britain can't mine enough coal to heat itself well, let alone the rest of Europe," opined Lewis. "We can supply the world, all as a result of our genius and know-how."

Lewis went on to say that some of his men will not live long enough to get fringe benefits and that he would rather have their cash now.

"Four miners are killed every day in the year," said Lewis. "There were more paraplegics resulting from coal-mine accidents during the war than there were from combat action."

Moses produced a 3 1/2-page memo giving new evidence on wages, and handed it to Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam, who will probably make the final decisions on wages.

"I don't know what the results of our analysis will show, Mr. President," Putnam said.

"I only ask that you get it as quickly as possible," replied Truman.

Critical 'Interregnum' Period Faces U. S. Following Election—Remedy Is Needed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 4.—Now that the election campaign is over, the United States faces a critical period called an "interregnum"—an interval of two and a half months when neither the outgoing nor the incoming administration is really able to make public policy.

It used to be four months, but the Constitution was amended in 1933 to make inauguration day January 20 instead of March 4. The most conspicuous instance of the dangers of such a long lapse occurred between November 8, 1932, when Herbert Hoover was defeated, and March 4, 1933, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was inaugurated.

Sensing the damage that might be done to national policy—immediately after the defeat of Mr. Hoover in November—this correspondent suggested in these dispatches that if Mr. Hoover and Vice President Curtis would resign, and before that step were taken Mr. Roosevelt were to be appointed secretary of state by President Hoover, the President-elect could succeed immediately to the presidency.

But such a remedy could not be applied today, because Congress has changed the law of succession so that, after the vice president, the speaker of the House is first in line for the presidency in the event of a vacancy in the White House. There is no way by which a President-elect who had not been a member of Congress can become one overnight.

Congress could by law provide again for succession by the secretary of state, but could limit this particular step only to a secretary of state appointed immediately after a presidential election and only for purposes of succession to the presidency. That could be spelled out explicitly in the law, and hence it would not require a constitutional amendment provided the outgoing president were willing to retire at once.

There is no way any President can be compelled to leave his office after an election except by a constitutional amendment. It is a weakness in the American system that ought some day to be corrected.

Canada and the other countries with a parliamentary system overcome this handicap in two ways—they have a permanent career service of officials who do not go out when there is a change of ministry, and they provide for the immediate assumption of office by the winning regime the moment an election occurs.

In the interval between the 1932 election and Inauguration Day in March, 1933, the domestic situation gradually deteriorated. Desperate efforts by President Hoover to get Mr. Roosevelt to sit down with him and shape policies were fruitless. There was one such meeting, but it resulted in a failure to work together. The theory behind Mr. Roosevelt's refusal was that he was not actually responsible until inaugurated and that he would not be placed in the position of approving acts about which he could not possibly know the details since he had no subordinates of his own selection in public office. There are many people who believe that the closing of the banks on Inauguration Day 1933 would never have been necessary and that the millions of dollars lost to the depositors would not have occurred if the Hoover and Roosevelt administrations had really cooperated.

At this time there are very important questions of international policy which need cooperation between the outgoing and incoming administrations. They are, for instance, policy in the United Nations Assembly now meeting, policy with respect to getting more manpower from our allies not only for Korea but for the defense of Europe, policy with respect to our federal budget for next year beginning July 1, 1953, since the estimates of the departments are now being made and Congress must have the budget by January. And there are many other questions of foreign governments to which the United States under its mutual assistance law is furnishing aid.

Distinct damage has been done to the international program by the active participation of some of the high officials—like Averell Harriman, mutual security administrator—in campaign politics. While there is no law to forbid such participation, nevertheless, if mutual assistance activities are to get bipartisan support, the men who operate such programs should resign at least for the duration of the campaign in which they are taking an active part.

The problem of restoring some semblance of a bipartisan attitude in Congress toward international policies has been made more difficult by the Truman administration and its appointees. It sounded like a mockery of words for Mr. Truman in Michigan speeches to have extolled the crusade which the late Senator Vandenberg of Michigan sought to carry on to get Republicans and Democrats to work together while the president himself allowed partisan policies to interfere with the proper development of foreign policy, especially in connection with the Far East. The Republicans, including Mr. Vandenberg, on record as saying the administration failed to consult the opposition in Congress on the important steps taken in connection with China policy.

The next few months, nevertheless, will see renewed efforts by supporters of bipartisanism in international policy to try to revive the concept that "policies ends at the water's edge." It is the most vital question facing the nation in the immediate future, especially since Soviet Russia might possibly take advantage of the wobbling condition of American policy to stir up more trouble in Southeast Asia and to block a truce in Korea.

Inflation Robs U. S. Taxpayer Of a 50-Ship Merchant Fleet

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington (NEA)—If ever there was a perfect example of how inflation increases the cost of government operation, or gives the taxpayers less for their money, it is provided by the Federal Maritime Board's program to build a modern U. S. fleet of high-speed, "Mariner"-class, dry cargo ships for national defense.

The Mariner ship was designed in 1950 to replace the Liberty and Victory ships of World War 2. These 10- and 15-knot sea-going work horses of the last war are now 10 years old. In another 10 years they will be obsolete.

To take their places, Vice-Admiral Edward L. Cochrane, then chairman of the Maritime Board, put forward at the start of the Korean war his plan to build the world's most modern merchant fleet.

Congress went along on the idea and in January, 1951, appropriated $350 million for construction. For that money, Admiral Cochrane thought he could get 50 ships, at $7 million apiece.

That was at 1951 prices, and before inflation raised its ugly head to spoil the picture. Today the best estimate is that the government will get only 35 of the new Mariners for its money. The cost per ship will have risen from $7 million apiece to nearly $10 million apiece by the time the last ship is completed, sometime in 1954.

The average contract price for the first 25 ships was $8.5 million. Rising costs will have robbed the taxpayers of from 10 to 15 ships, in other words.

Third Ship Loads War Cargo

The third of the new ships, the O. C. Colons Mariner, arrived in New York Oct. 30, after her trial run.

Each of the ships will be christened with the nickname of a state—Hoosier, Mariner, Pelican Mariner, Show Me Mariner, etc.

These new ships are expected to enable the U. S. to compete with any foreign flag fleet.

Speed, Tonnage Outclass Others

With a speed of over 20 knots and a cargo capacity of 12,900 tons, the Mariner-class ships will have more than double the effectiveness of the old Liberty ships. Mariners will not normally cruise at top speed. But in an emergency they will be able to operate at a speed not in show to outrun any known submarine menace. The ships are also de-

Dewey Winds Up 18-Hour Marathon; Sees Win Ahead

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey wound up an 18-hour television and radio campaign marathon last night with a declaration that "a new day for America lies ahead."

"I am tired but happy," Dewey told newsmen at the end, "because I believe the American people are going to do the right thing."

The governor still was swamped with questions from his viewing and listening audiences when he closed his campaign for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Going on the air at 6 a. m. (EST), Dewey spent more than six hours in all before the TV cameras at the WOR-TV studios. He gave 22 talks most of them 15 minutes long and a two-hour continuous windup broadcast.

Other TV and radio stations and New York state networks carried the programs at various times. GOP spokesmen said they hoped to reach four million radio and TV sets in the state.

Has Guest Speakers

For most of his time on the air, Dewey introduced guest speakers, replied to questions telephoned and telegraphed in, and quoted Eisenhower on major issues of his campaign for President.

Sponsors of the program estimated the flood of questions at 11,000. A special telephone switchboard was swamped throughout. Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon sponsored the telecast.

Dewey said Western Union offices across the nation were "swamped" with pro-Eisenhower chain telegrams sent as a result of his all-day and night appeal.

Tidal Wave of Telegrams

The Governor had plugged for a "tidal wave" of telegrams backing Eisenhower and his GOP running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California. He told his audiences that Western Union offices had a form telegram reading: "Am voting Ike. Urge you do the same. Please wire five friends this chain Ikeogram now."

A Western Union spokesman said no figures on the volume of the telegrams was available immediately. He said, however, that "our people all over the country are quite busy handling them."

The 18-hour stint for the GOP national ticket was similar to Dewey's marathon air windup of his successful campaign for a third term as Governor in 1950.

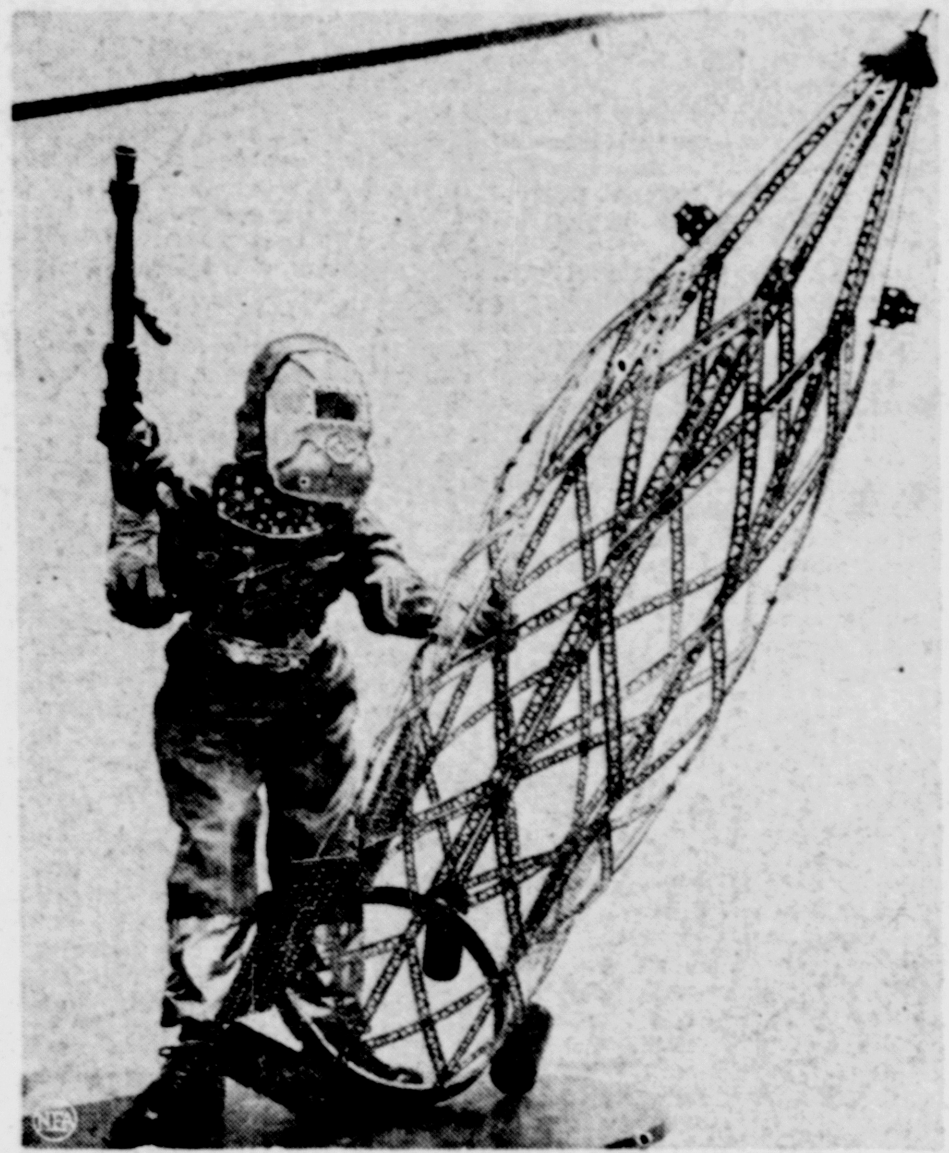

Dewey—unsuccessful GOP presidential candidate in 1944 and 1948—highlighted his talks yesterday and last night with criticism of President Truman and his administration.

Raid Still Near Police Station

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—An illegal still just two blocks from Brooklyn police headquarters, described as one of the biggest found in New York city, has been raided and five alleged moonshiners arrested.

Internal Revenue agents and city police moved into the illegal distillery yesterday and apprehended the quintet, who were held overnight for arraignment today in Brooklyn Federal Court.

Authorities said they found the still operating at full blast—4,000 gallons of 180-proof alcohol a day—in preparation for a big Thanksgiving and Christmas season rush.

This, Internal Revenue agents said, meant evasion of federal liquor taxes to the tune of $18,000 a day. The tax is $18 a gallon.

Officials added that the actual gross of the five alleged moonshiners was $25,000 a day with their brew going to bootleggers for $25 a gallon. Buyers would dilute it, color it and re-sell it to retail bootleggers, agents added.

Residents of the neighborhood said they had smelled the odor of fermenting sour mash for several weeks. A federal agent said the still had been under surveillance for three weeks before yesterday's raid.

Two men arrested were identified as Newark, N. J., residents. They are John Carnecki, 41, and Anthony D. Ippolito, 26.

Others arrested were identified as Joseph J. Sicari, 38, of Brooklyn; David Littman, 45, of West Hempstead, N. Y.; and James A.

De Stefano, 31, of Flushing, Queens. All were charged with keeping and maintaining an unregistered still and possession of untaxed alcohol.

Alvin Feuerstein of 301 Lucas avenue reported that while driving south on Broadway about 5:30 p. m. yesterday a 10-year-old boy, Steve Kirschner, who was crossing from Liberty street to Elmendorf street, ran into the left side of his 1948 sedan.

Feuerstein said he stopped and offered to take the boy to the hospital but the boy insisted he was all right and refused to go.

First Comic-Strip Creator?

Rome (AP)—Was the 13th century painter Giotto the first comic-strip creator? Piero Bargellini, Italy's leading art critic, said in a magazine article that the series of mural paintings made by Giotto, Andrea dell'Orcagna, Agnolo Gaddi, Domenico del Ghirlandajo and other leading Italian artists were "the first comic strips." Giotto's was of the first. He added "then, as of today, there was the need to attract the attention of the common people—the eternal children—who, unable to read, preferred to see, that is to read by images." The question of education by comic strips, much debated in this country and abroad, found in Bargellini a defender who said "comic strips have an immediate grip on the fantasy of the simple ones and of children."

New Election Issue?

St. Louis (AP)—Some persons like Ike and others think we need Adlai badly. But Mrs. Gertrude Drury has a different campaign idea. ## Truman Votes for Adlai Independence, Mo., Nov. 4 (AP)—President Truman, his wife and daughter, Margaret, cast three votes for Adlai Stevenson. It is the final act of service by the 68-year-old Missourian for the Illinois governor for whom he has worked harder than he worked for himself in his own campaign of 1948. Immediately after voting, Truman boarded his old campaign train to depart for Washington.

Cardinal Denies Any Endorsement

Boston, Nov. 4 (AP)—House Majority Leader John W. McCormack (D-Mass.) made public last night a telegram in which Francis Cardinal Spellman said the use of his name to imply he endorsed any political candidate "is entirely unwarranted."

McCormack said the telegram from the New York prelate was in reply to one he sent informing the cardinal of the use of his name in a political advertisement appearing in newspapers in Boston and elsewhere.

The advertisement was in the form of a letter signed by former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney and others and urged support of Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee.

McCormack said the advertisement said in part: "Cardinal Spellman in introducing Mr. Eisenhower as the principal speaker at the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Day dinner said 'General Eisenhower is known and respected throughout our country and throughout the world, a general who has a place among the all-time great men in American history.'"

"Use Is Unwarranted" The congressman quoted the telegram from Cardinal Spellman as stating "I have never endorsed any candidate for any political office. The use of my name to imply that I have done so is entirely unwarranted."

Apparently unaware that news of the telegram from the cardinal was on the news wires, the Democratic National Committee charged in Washington that it was being suppressed by the nation's news services and radio networks.

Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic committee, said in a statement that the news services and radio networks carried statements of "General Eisenhower implying that General Eisenhower was endorsed by Francis Cardinal Spellman, . . . while they failed to carry the telegram from the Cardinal to Congressman McCormack. . . ."

signed to accommodate the latest types of anti-submarine and anti-aircraft defensive weapons.

The ships are 560 feet long, have a 76-foot beam and just under 30-foot draft. The single-screw, 22-foot propeller is driven by a 17,500-horsepower turbine.

Eventually it is planned to sell these Mariner-class vessels to private U. S. shipping companies. In addition to Waterman, U. S. and President lines, the Pacific Far East, Farrell Seas Shipping, Lykes Bros., and States Marine lines have already received assignments to serve as agents while the Mariners are still under government operation. They would all be eligible to purchase.

The immediate problem of the Maritime Board, however, is to figure the construction subsidies. Under U. S. law the ships must be sold at competitive foreign shipyard construction costs.

Dry cargo ships of the last war were thus sold at 50 per cent of construction costs. Tankers were sold at about 85 per cent of cost. There is no precedent for determining the subsidy on a Mariner-class ship, nor whether the purchasers will be charged for the inflation factor.

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—James A. Farley, former postmaster general and former national Democratic chairman, said today he is confident of a Democratic election victory. ### Church Group to Hear Former Missionary At Clinton Church

The Kingston Council of Church Women have invited all women in the community to hear Mrs. Philip Allen Swartz, a former missionary in Peiping, China, on World Community Day to be observed Friday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

Mrs. Swartz is the wife of the Congregational Minister of Poughkeepsie. She and her husband have lived in many parts of the world. "This has given the speaker a background of first hand information to develop the theme of this year's World Community Day, that of building lasting peace," said a member of the council today.

The Rev. Mr. Swartz and Mrs. Swartz have been missionaries in China, and before the revolution he was secretary of the W.M.C.A. in Russia. They lived in Hawaii where for five years he was pastor of the Central Honolulu Church. For the past three years, Mrs. Swartz has been teaching English to displaced persons at Arlington High School in Poughkeepsie. She and her husband are sponsoring three foreign students in this country, a Chinese woman doctor; a Dutch student at Cornell, and a German professor.

Mrs. Arthur Eymann is in charge of the program. Music has been arranged by Mrs. Donald Brown. Mrs. Clyde Snel will be the organist and Mrs. Jerry Nathan, soloist. Others participating in the program will be Mrs. Oscar Newkirk, leader; Mrs. William Cain, prayer; Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen, who will introduce the speaker; and the dedication of gifts by Mrs. Gennare Ausanio.

Following the program, Mrs. Marshall Winchell and Mrs. Clayton Smith will preside at the tea table.

AN 'IT' QUESTION

A reader explains: "Lately I have received several telephoned invitations which start out as follows: 'Hello, what are you doing Saturday evening?' and I am left standing at the end of the wire, tongue-tied, because if I say nothing, then I have no loophole to save me from an invitation. I don't want to accept. And then again, if I say I have a definite engagement, how do I get out of it if I like the telephoned suggestion? Any help you can offer in this situation will be greatly appreciated."

Just say, "I'm not certain. I have an indefinite engagement. I don't know whether it will come through or not."

No Obligation

Dear Mrs. Post: I was married several months ago and received many wedding presents, all of which I acknowledged personally. We also received quite a number of telegrams which I did not acknowledge as I did not think it necessary. Now I am told that these messages should have been acknowledged, too. I feel terrible about this and hope I haven't hurt anyone's feelings. Please ease my conscience by either telling me there was no need to write to those who sent telegrams, or tell me what I can possibly do now.

Answer: There is no obligation to answer congratulatory telegrams. When you see those who sent the messages, it would be courteous to thank them, but if you forget, it would not be very serious.

Getting Off Streetcar

Dear Mrs. Post: I am well aware of the fact that a man is supposed to help a woman off a streetcar, but, in going to the door, does the woman precede him and stand aside at the door while he gets off first, or does he go up the aisle first?

Answer: No rule—Whoever is in front goes first. On the other hand, if the streetcar is very high, she might let him pass her at the door and help her down.

How shall I write a note of acceptance for an invitation? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but model notes for invitations and their acceptance, as well as notes of condolence or thank-you notes are included in leaflet E-21. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Marlborough Central School Activities

Mid-Hudson Speech Festival

On Thursday, Oct. 30, several Marlborough High School students participated in the fifth annual Mid-Hudson Speech Festival at Poughkeepsie High School. Each pupil demonstrated an ability in radio address, informal interviewing and informal talking, and poetry reading.

Marianne Hampel of Marlborough High School earned the highest honor in television interviewing and informal talking. This competition comprised a program which included the student's previously prepared interview, an extemporaneous interview with a newly assigned group, and an extemporaneous broadcast-style speech on a sports event, an experience or a political talk. Ten minutes of preparation was allowed for each extemporaneous speech.

Seven students from the several schools were selected for the final honor—round which was a town meeting type discussion program on the proposition, Resolved, that homework should be abolished. A panel of five judges awarded the first honor of this selected group to Marianne Hampel of Marlborough Central School.

Other pupils from Marlborough High School taking place in the meet were Marilyn Hennkens, Vincent Vasile, Jean Griener, Christine Collins, Shirley Patterson, Ruth Barry, Katherine Hickey, Shirley Wolf, Fred Weinberg and Suzanne Kaley. Some of the other schools participating were Poughkeepsie, Oakwood, Arlington, Peckskill, Highland and Saugerties.

First Student Congress

The first Mid-Hudson Student Congress for this year will take place in the Marlborough school Saturday, Nov. 15, from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

It is urgently requested that delegations arrive on time since Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, of the 30th Congressional District will address the Student Congress in joint session promptly upon his arrival. Congressman Wharton expects to drive to Washington that day, making an early hour necessary.

Coaches are asked to register the number and names of their student delegations by mail, to reach Marlborough by Friday, Nov. 7.

The debates will include the general fields of NATO, income taxes, national nominating procedures and automobile insurance.

The host school principal, E. J. Alvut will welcome the joint session. Officials will include, in the Senate, George Rusk of Marlborough, president; Mrs. Ruth Noyes, Arlington, parliamentarian; Albert Swank, Peckskill, and Miss Margaret Walsh, Arlington, scorers. The House speaker will be Marsh Niner, Arlington; and the scorers, Mrs. Brady, Arlington and Thomas Parrott, Newburgh.

Committees assigned are, foreign affairs to Wappingers Falls; public welfare, Poughkeepsie; economic policy, Saugerties; and state and local, Kerhonkson.

Additional information may be obtained from the general chairman, Clarence E. Spitzer of Marlborough.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD S. THIBAUT, Jr.

Basketball Practice

Begins in Two Weeks

Woodstock, Nov. 4—Walter Van Wagenen, coach of the basketball team, has announced that the basketball season will start at the Woodstock School in about two weeks. He has also announced that the varsity and the jayvees will have the following players this season: Varsity—Kenneth Harder, Joseph Holdridge, Jr., William Klein, William Waterous, Carl Van Wagenen and Jack Gosman; Jayvees—Richard Hilton, Robert Kaiser, Andy Lee, Lewis Ostrander, Werner Polak, Kenneth Wilson, Jr., Allen Simmons, Allen Van Wagenen, W. Renninger.

Van Wagenen has also stated that there would be no school on Armistice Day and there would be a Thanksgiving recess beginning at 3:30 p. m., Wednesday, Nov. 26. School will resume sessions on Monday, Dec. 1.

Three new students are now attending the school. They are Robert Prodsachan, first grade; Richard Prodsachan, third grade; and Diane Prodsachan, fourth grade.

Van Wagenen and Mrs. Charles Rapp, chairman of the Woodstock School Board, attended the New York State School Board Association conference at Syracuse last week. According to Van Wagenen, the conference was interesting and highly instructive and information was obtained about school boards through a question and answer program. He stated that the Woodstock School teaching staff was fortunate in that it served for but one shift each day, as against the two or three shifts which are necessary at many other schools.

The members of the kindergarten class made a trip to the Woodstock Fire House last Friday and were conducted through the premises by Fire Chief George Haythorne and Constable Clarence Snyder.

Van Wagenen would like to remind parents that the first quarter of the school year ends November 7, and on November 14 there will be a parent-teachers' conference at the school at 1:30 p. m.

Burroughs Naturalist

Group Observes Birds

Woodstock, Nov. 4—Fifteen members of the John Burroughs Naturalist Group of Ulster county were led by Rodney Lethbridge of this village on a tour recently. In search of specimens of birds in this area the group went to the Lake Hill, Cooper's Lake and Mink Hollow sections of Woodstock. They observed a flock of pippins, a large flock of (over 100) gold finches, and many purple finches. They also caught glimpses of olive-backed thrushes, ruby and golden crowned kinglets which, according to Lethbridge, is proof of the extensive bird population in the Woodstock area.

Among those who made the tour were Dan Smiley of Mohawk and Professor Meng of New Paltz.

Fire Is Extinguished

Woodstock, Nov. 4—The Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 was summoned to the Martin MacDaniel place on Overlook Mountain, between Mead's and Shady, when a chimney fire broke out in the main part of the house about 7 p. m. Monday. When the two fire engines arrived the blaze had become severe and firemen battled for about a half hour before it was under control. No damage to the house was reported.

Parents Are Invited

To Join P-T-A Group

Woodstock, Nov. 4—Parents of children of Woodstock School District No. 2, have again been invited to join the Parent-Teacher Association which will hold its next regular monthly meeting Thursday, Nov. 6, at 8 p. m. at the school auditorium.

Mrs. Ruth Kelley, membership chairman, in extending the invitation to all parents to join the organization, would like to remind them that the school can instruct, and in a measure guide their children. "At school your child," she says, "is one of many interesting youngsters growing up. To you he is the important person growing up."

Parents deserve an important role in his growing up at school as well as at home. In joining and supporting the Parent-Teacher Association, which is now in its third successful year, parents may find new ways to help their children, to help their teachers, and in doing so find a rewarding experience for themselves.

Club to Meet

$2 which was also split; Marie Klippel, third prize of $1; Jean Wilson and Pixie Mecklem, fourth prize of 50 cents which was also split; Lynn Kins, fifth prize of 50 cents; Christine Christiana, sixth prize of 50 cents; Barbara Longyear and Harold Hefty, seventh prize of 50 cents which was also split.

Lee Exhibition Opens

Woodstock, Nov. 4—An exhibition of paintings of North Africa by Doris Lee, which she completed last year when she was sent there by Life magazine, opened Monday at the Associated American Artists gallery, 711 Fifth avenue, New York. The show will be on view until November 22.

Joins Fire Company

Woodstock, Nov. 4—At the regular monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 Monday night Chris Helmers was elected to the company.

Dance Is Planned

Woodstock, Nov. 4—Further plans for the Armistice Day dance to be held at the Town Hall Tuesday, Nov. 11, from 9 to 1 a. m., have been announced by the American Legion. In addition to Don Pierson's orchestra, there will be several acts of entertainment presented between 10 and 11 p. m. including Lee Carey and his accordion, Grant Decker of Wittenberg, who will be master of ceremonies, and Helmut Salewski of Tilsen, tap dancer and accordionist. Other entertainers for the program will be announced later.

In Westbury, R. I., a polite cop glimpsed a group of girls sunbathing, marched toward them backwards with the announcement: "You're breaking the law."

A trainee in the army induction center had just passed his physical examination, and was hurrying to a telephone to call his girl friend when he passed a captain without saluting. Stopping the new arrival the captain said: "Captain—Wait a minute, soldier, where are you going in such a hurry?"

The youth breathlessly explained his errand.

Captain—Well, take a look at me. Do you attach any special significance to this uniform?

The soldier looked the officer over carefully then grinned and said:

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, Nov. 3—Mr. and Mrs. Luther Filkins were guests of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doyl, Poughkeepsie, Thursday night to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Filkins.

Members of the WSCS will hold a business meeting in the Methodist Church hall following the Community Day service next Friday afternoon in that church. Mrs. Luther Filkins, president, will conduct the meeting.

Further plans for a Christmas party were discussed at the meeting of the UD Society Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Fred Wilkerson. This will be held the first Saturday in December. Attendees in the meeting were Mrs. Elsie Randall, president; Mrs. S. D. Farnham, Mrs. Abram Rhodes, Mrs. Joseph Mellor, Mrs. Charles Champlin, Mrs. Thomas Sears and granddaughter Nancy, Mrs. Alfred Lane, Mrs. G. H. Mackey, Mrs. A. J. Pratt, the Misses Rowena Harcourt, Eliza Raymond, Belle Brinckerhoff, Mrs. N. D. Williams, Mrs. Franklin Welker, Mrs. Howard Wilcox and the hostess.

The Queen Esther Club made a donation of baby clothes for the Packets for Peace at their meeting recently with Mrs. Wilbur Palmateer. Mrs. Joseph Mellor presided at the meeting and attending was Mrs. Charles DuBois, Mrs. Jacob Schuble, Mrs. George Cornell, Mrs. Luther Filkins, Mrs. Ralph Lyons, Mrs. Lloyd Plass and the hostess who served refreshments. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Ruby Kniffin when Mrs. Palmateer will arrange an entertainment.

Sarah R., little daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Jones is recovering from an appendectomy at Benedictine Hospital, Kingston.

Frank LaFalce, former coach for the local Central School and last year assistant coach at St. Lawrence University, is now located in the state's largest central school district at Gouverneur. Since Mr. LaFalce took over in September the school team has defeated Malone, Canton, Tupper Lake, Saranac, Potsdam and lost its only game to Massena last week, who had been champions for the last three years in the league. They play Ogdensburg as their last game of the season. Mr. and Mrs. LaFalce expect to spend the weekend here in two weeks with his relatives.

Mrs. Betty Luther will give a food demonstration at 2 p. m., Nov. 13, in the Methodist Church hall. She will feature entertaining the easy way; also an easier way to better living.

Investor Forum

by
Harry C. France

America's economic machinery is so delicately poised that emotions can tip it one way or another easily. And the election results could influence common stock prices bullishly or bearishly as the psychology of a few thousand speculators bears down on the market.

One presidential candidate, for instance, has declared that defense spending can be cut by billions of dollars. That great throng of speculators, who believe that our present prosperity rests largely on such spending, will sell stocks at the drop of a hat if that candidate is elected.

Many of these sellers will not look beyond this bearish sign. Every cloud does have a silver lining, however, and curtailed spending might well bring on a substantial reduction in taxes. Suppose $10-billion could be lopped off defense expenditures in any given year and these large savings were to be passed along in sound tax savings—what might happen?

Why, the bearishness set in motion by the reduced spending might well generate bullishness in economic places where high taxation has been holding back industrial expansion and improvement. A few weeks ago in this column I posed this proposition: if XYZ corporation, that paid taxes of $1,141,000,000 in 1951, should get a tax reduction of $500-million during 1953-54, what an economic lift it would be to millions of people!

Prices could be cut; wages could be raised; improvements undertaken and stockholders rewarded. Reduced federal expenditures could inject into the national economy positive forces of incalculable benefit.

American speculators are a mercurial lot. Their bearishness often turns to bullishness overnight. I know of emotionally-dominated stock traders whose operations can be terrifically influenced by short radio broadcasts.

I would have no part in any contagious and unreasoned stock selling following the elections. If economic trends are to change in 1953, it will take several weeks or months to discern them.

If bearishness should get into the stock market, I would purchase sound investment stocks on the scale down. There are three groups of special interest:

The Utilities: 40-million homes in America are wired for electricity. And in most of these homes are a dozen different gadgets making for comfortable living.

America's population is growing fast and, decade by decade, one can expect substantial electrical expansion.

The Banks: Money is the most popular commodity in the world. Banks and money are as inseparable as cows and milk. Most good bank stocks are selling under their liquidating value and dividend payments can be relied upon. Every sound investment portfolio should carry bank shares.

The Oils: The railroads (even the coal roads) are installing diesel engines. John L. Lewis is making oil more popular every year as his problems grow. Our cities and the countryside are jammed with cars and trucks. Homes, churches and institutions are using more oil every year.

So, if the elections cause values to tumble down, keep calm. Search out an unperturbed broker who knows equity values and if the stock market gets jittery, put some idle money to use.

Ballerinas Get Shower

Vienna (AP)—After many years without, the ballerinas of the Vienna State Opera finally are getting their own shower-room. They haven't had one since Vienna's famous Opera House was destroyed in the last days of the war. Since then, the opera ballet has trained and rehearsed in a musty cellar of the Theatre an der Wien, in which the opera is now held, and the ballerinas have shared that theatre's scanty bathing facilities with singers and others. Within a few weeks, the ballet will move into newly-rebuilt and modernized studios of the Opera House for rehearsals. It marks the beginning of a general move back to the Opera House which will be completed when the structure is rebuilt as it stood before the war.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headache, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as strain and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 million kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

HIT BY INFLATION—A prime example of how inflation gives the taxpayers less for their money is symbolized by the SS Old Dominion Mariner, above. It is one of a fleet of "Mariner" ships being built for the government to replace the old Liberty and Victory ships of World War II. In 1950 Congress appropriated $350,000,000 to provide 50 such ships at $7,000,000 apiece. But today—two inflation years later—the average contract price for the first 25 Mariner ships is $8,500,000 and the cost per ship will have risen to nearly $10,000,000 apiece before the last one is completed in 1954. So the U. S. will get only 35 Mariners instead of the desired 50.

Socialized Medicine

349 Clifton Avenue
Kingston, N. Y.
October 21, 1952

Editor, The Freeman:

I am not opposed to private medicine but I believe in a middle position on this controversial question urging that both methods can be supported—private medicine for those who can afford to pay, socialized for those who cannot, and who must go without life saving services to our country's detriment, aside from clinics.

Fact prove (statistically) that illness and death increase as the income of the masses decreases. It seems to me a system of nationalized health insurance is a great public investment for the health of our nation.

Since the death rate (statistical) of the dangerous diseases is twice as high among the unskilled as the skilled workers, it's proof enough to sustain the argument by statistics, because I do not believe it is coincidental. If we are concerned through the United Nations about the health of the free nations of the world, why shouldn't we take inventory of our poorer people here?

Another clue is the army rejections of unfitness for military service, which could be classified as a cause by lack of this proper medical attention early in life. The Blue Cross is excellent in its principle but it's not the solution for the masses of poor people who can't afford the payments. This is no time for medical individualism if we want to build a strong army. We must fight the ravages of disease from the cradles of the poorest until draft age.

I cannot comprehend the philosophy that any reasonable reform is labeled "Socialism," when applicable here at home. Therefore, what is wrong or detrimental in giving the poor the right to governmental facilities with a view to raising the health standards of our nation?

I recall the middle thirties when our present Social Security Act was branded as socialistic, many who criticized it are now benefiting, and realize they misunderstood it.

The thought I desire to convey to your mind and heart is, "The health of all the people should be the greatest concern of any government, group or individual."

Sincerely yours,

EDWIN J. HIGBY

Unity

November 1, 1952

Editor, The Freeman:

Unity. The word of many different meanings and interpretations, used so often as a misnomer.

Stalin and all totalitarians preach, advocate and insist on unity from their subjects, followers, all their satellites. Their definition of unity is the principle according to which one central idea or ideal should pervade and control the whole, with subordination of purpose, thought and spirit. How often when we speak of unity are we motivated by similar thoughts. The chief priests with a unity of purpose lead the cries of "crucify Him, crucify Him." How often do we forget to lay aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envious, and all evil speakings when we speak of unity.

To get unity we must have harmony, agreement, oneness of sentiment, respect for and the will to understand each other.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Wait for Opening Then Head for Slam

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

My friend Arthur Seidman does a lot of cautious bidding in his business as a textile broker, but he loosens up at the bridge table.

In the hand shown today, Arthur headed for a slam as soon as North opened the bidding.

North's double of five hearts showed two aces in response to Seidman's Blackwood bid of four no-trump. In expert circles you double an interference bid if that bid has taken the words out of your mouth. In this case North was ready to bid five hearts and therefore doubled when West made that bid first.

North made the final decision to bid seven no-trump after East sacrificed at seven spades. North thought that Seidman had a better hand, and that the play for seven no-trump would be very easy.

The decision to bid seven nomonds, discarding a low heart from the dummy.

With each hand down to only five cards, West had to hold three hearts and could therefore hold only two clubs. Having thus squeezed West out of his clubs, declarer now turned his attention to East. He finessed the queen of hearts and cashed the ace of hearts.

On the second round of hearts East had to reduce to three cards. Since East had to hold a high spade to prevent declarer's five of spades from becoming a trick, East had to discard a club. South thereupon discarded the five of spades and took the last three tricks with the king of clubs, the ace of clubs, and the eight of clubs.

Kingston and Newburgh Favored to Win Key DUSO Games Saturday

By CHARLES J. FIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The aggregate attendance figures for Kingston High School's home games for the 1952 football season will be disappointing unless the student body and the old grads can whip themselves into a frenzy for the Nov. 8 date with Port Jervis.

Attendance at Maroon football games has been suffering a steady decline. This is in keeping with the general trend throughout the East—in all phases of football—and particularly in the DUSO League. But the 1952 record—a tie and then five straight wins—furnishes no justification for the local slump.

Coach G. Warren Kias, the KHS athletic director, views the slump with some concern and frankly admits he cannot understand why the town hasn't warmed up to the 1952 team.

"I think we have one of the most exciting football teams in recent years," said Kias recently. "We have two good runners in Gene Massa and Orville Giles, a team that scores well and comes up with spectacular plays."

"I think that maybe sometimes the folks don't realize what a really fascinating team we have. They'll have one more chance to watch them and that will be on Nov. 8 when Port Jervis comes here."

A quick second to Coach Kias' suggestion.

If you're a KHS graduate and haven't seen a game this year, or maybe for the past several seasons, why not try to make a special effort to get out on Nov. 8. You'll see a good game, because Port Jervis is always tough for Kingston when the Maroons are pre-game favorites. It's a pattern that has existed for years.

Let's make Nov. 8 something of an unofficial "Homecoming Day" for KHS students and graduates. It will give the 1952 varsity a mental lift that will be important for the climactic clash at Newburgh on Thanksgiving Day.

Let it not be said that the 1952 football team compiled an excellent record, unsung, unappreciated and unnoticed.

A graduate of 25 years ago took a Cook's tour around the high school with Principal John Martin a few days ago.

First he was amazed by the transformation of the dingy old "chicken coop" gym into a shining, modern lunch room. The old grad would never have known what part of the school he was in, unless the principal told him.

Then across the street to the new field house which will seat 3,000 spectators in a modern setting for basketball.

The spacious gym which can be divided into four sections will accommodate 1600 students a day and for the first time in history every student, except those exempted for physical reason, will be able to attend gym classes daily.

Completion of the field house—and it will be ready for the 1952-53 season—will give the City of Kingston the most modern athletic setup from junior high through high school of any institution in the area.

Four men led in the planning and of the transition, all of them presidents of the Board of Education—Alfred W. Schmidt, Bernard Feeney, Robert Herzog and Clarence S. Rowland. Each of the four and a sympathetic Board of Education contributed to the advancement.

KHS basketball which has slumped in the past couple of seasons will get a shot in the arm from the new arena and there should be a general revival of interest among the adult fans.

It takes a winning team to really bring out crowds, we know, but sometimes a new setting can help.

While listening to Principal Martin describe the new facilities and plans for the future, and having taken one last look at the old "chicken coop" transformed into a dreamland, the old grad couldn't help thinking to himself:

"Some of us KHS alumni were born just 25 years too soon."

Kingston High's unbeaten and once-tied Maroons play their final home game Saturday against traditionally tough Port Jervis.

At the same time, Coach Sam Kalloch's resurgent Blues of Poughkeepsie High entertain the slightly deflated Goldbacks of Newburgh in what could develop into a donnybrook at the Bridge City.

The results of these two pivotal clashes will have an important bearing on the 1952 pennant chase, but Kingston's championship hopes brightened with Beacon's 20-14 upset of undefeated NFA last Saturday.

The debacle against undefeated Beacon on the Goldback gridiron proved what wise football men were saying all along: that NFA has a good team but not a great one, comparable to the 1951 that terrorized opposition in every game.

Beacon DUSO Calibre

Beacon, the equal of any squad in the DUSO League this season, trounced Poughkeepsie by a hefty margin at the start of the campaign. That was before Kalloch's charges started moving.

Kingston rates a logical favorite over the Red Raiders of Port Jervis, but Coach Bill Burke has hammered away at overconfidence and a mental letdown since Capt. Pat Manfro and his gang reached their seasonal peak in crushing Onondaga High.

Burke has only to recall the 1948 defeat by Port Jervis to sober the Maroons. That was one of the greatest reversals of form in DUSO history and occurred in a setting not unlike that which will unfold Saturday at municipal stadium.

The KHS student body is at fever pitch for the big game and school officials anticipate the largest turnout of adults this season.

The municipal stadium bleachers have not been filled to date but KHS authorities are confident the attendance will exceed 2,000.

Odds Favor Maroon

Every logical conclusion based on comparative performances and known quantities points to a Kingston victory. The Maroons have everything in their favor except Old Man Psychology. Will he smile at them or cast them aside on Saturday?

Physically, the Maroons are in top shape after a series of minor illnesses and injuries following the Onondaga game.

Coach Bill Burke pointed out that there was one absentee the first workout after Onondaga. The next day there were two, then three and finally four.

"It's getting contagious," he told the squad as they lined up for an afternoon workout. "Let's cut out the fooling and get down to work." And it has been rugged workouts since then.

NFA Rates Edge

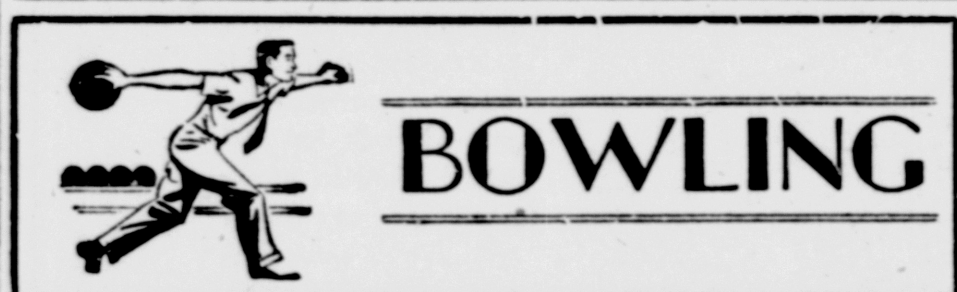

Nobody is predicting the outcome of the Newburgh-Poughkeepsie game. Until Beacon High came along to expose the Achilles heel of the unbeaten Goldbacks (11 in a row), the Academy "monster" rated the edge.

The experts figured that Poughkeepsie would score several times but still lose by a close margin. Even the upset by Beacon hasn't changed that picture too much.

Newburgh proved vulnerable to Beacon passes. The southern Dutchess cagers have a brilliant passer in Tucker Blanchfield and a great receiver in Pete Carrington. The Blues can't match that combination and it is doubtful they can exploit NFA's weakness to that extent. It resolves into a ground duel and Newburgh rates the edge in that department because of a superior defense.

M. Jansen Hits 581 in Women's Major; Joe Ausanio's 595 Leads in City Minor

Marge Jansen went to the head of the class with a 581 series in the Women's Major League last night, while Joe Ausanio led the city's males with 595 in the City Minor.

Mrs. Jansen launched her league-leading series with a 213 solo and followed with 190 and 178. Ausanio wrapped games of 190 and 171 around a big 234 middle effort.

Ralph Halbert maintained his fast pace in the Independent circuit with 584 on solos of 190, 221 and 173.

Evelyn Billings' 450, with 162-124-164, was the leading scorer in the BYA League.

Dot Rawding Hits 540

Runners-up to Mrs. Jansen in the Major formed a veritable "Who's Who" of women's bowling. Dot Rawding posted 540; Charlotte Lapine 523, Reta Frederick 518, Rose Schatzel 511, Evelyn Gross 505.

Betty Bailey toppled 499, Eleanor Singer 202-497, Faye Horne 201-496, Beverly Port 494, Evelyn Dolson 485 and Eleanor Dumigan 484.

Joe Maurer blasted 236-588 and Lou Secreto shot 224-216-584. A 144 middle effort deprived him of the best series of the night. Harry Secreto had 203-583 and Ed Koskie bowled over 227-582.

Also of note were Millie Bernard's 534, Bill Murray 213-553, Joe Misasi 544, Ken Radel 200-546.

Van Alstyne Posts 575

Orv Van Alstyne slipped after a 236 opener in the Independent but finished with 575 for second place in the Independent week. Following in order were Jim Roe with 205-561; Ray Roux 202-560; Craig Plough 217-558; Bob Henry 557; Frank Schick 220-549; Eugene Vogel 201-540; Ed Trombley 208-540; Tom Welch 533.

Pat Pearson shot 430 for runner-up honors in the BYA circuit. Gen Whitmore near-missed with 395.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)

(By The Associated Press)

General

Kansas City—The NCAA Council recommended that Kentucky be placed on probation for all sports during the 1952-53 school year and that Bradley of Peoria, Ill., should not be permitted to participate in the post-season N.C.A.A. basketball tournament.

Both colleges, which violated NCAA rules, accepted the recommendations and Kentucky complied by cancelling its basketball schedule for the coming season.

Baseball

Washington—Outfielder Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was declared unfit for military service because of a chronic knee ailment.

Boxing

Trenton, N. J.—The National Boxing Association suspended heavyweight Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland from boxing because of a fight contract violation. The suspension, however, came too late to stop Bivins' fight Monday night in Providence.

Racing

Baltimore—Canadiana ($3.80) won the $5,000 No Score Purse at Pimlico.

New York—Dark Count ($25) came fast in the stretch to capture the Charentis Purse at Jamaica.

Bivins Receives Double Setback

Providence, R. I., Nov. 4 (AP)—Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland heavyweight, today was plagued by a double dose of fistic misfortune.

After that veteran learned he had been suspended by the National Boxing Association, he dropped a 10-round decision to Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles, here last night, Harrison weighed 178½ to Bivins' 185 and piled up his winning margin with an accurate left jab and fast footwork.

Bivins' ban was announced in Trenton, N. J., by Abe J. Greene, the N.B.A. commissioner, who charged that the Cleveland battler had failed to fulfill a contract to meet Billy Gilliam of East Orange, N. J. The ruling, however, was not made in time to interfere with Bivins' bout with Harrison.

Harrison, who has served as a sparring partner for new champion Rocky Marciano, had the latter's trainer, Charlie Goldman, presiding in his corner as he clicked off his 25th win in 28 professional starts.

Bivins is scheduled to battle ex-champion Ezzard Charles in Chicago on Nov. 26.

Favorite Cops Cup

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 4 (AP)—Dalray, favorite in a bulging field of 30, today won the two-mile Melbourne Cup, Australia's biggest horse race. With some 90,000 spectators looking on, the four-year-old from New Zealand roared down the stretch with a terrific burst of speed to win by a half a length over Welkin Sun, a five-year-old outsider.

rison, 178½, Los Angeles, outpointed Jimmy Bivins, 185, Cleveland (10).

Pat Pearson shot 430 for runner-up honors in the BYA circuit. Gen Whitmore near-missed with 395.

Dallas Texans About to Fold

Dallas, Nov. 4 (AP)—The winless Dallas Texans, with $250,000 already down the drain, may not finish the National Football League season unless there is an appreciable pickup in attendance or some loans can be obtained.

The professional team that was brought from New York to Dallas last winter, amid much ballyhoo, is on the rocks. And yesterday, it couldn't get an anticipated loan from the Dallas Citizens Council, a group of civic leaders.

That might have been the last tack in the coffin. Two of the five trustees of the team said they feared the Texans wouldn't be able to finish the season.

D. Harold Byrd, one of the trustees who made the plea to the council for a loan of $125,000, said after the turnaround: "As far as I'm concerned, that kills it. I don't think we can cope with it."

John Coyle, another trustee, was a little more optimistic. He said loans from

Horse Show Opens At Madison Square

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—The National Horse Show—not only one of New York's top sports attractions but also the event that signals the opening of the society season—began an eight-day run at Madison Square Garden today with no fewer than 625 horses of all shapes, sizes and colors on hand.

They represented 20 states and four foreign countries and all are champions of a sort having taken ribbons in one of the 1,200 shows that have been held around the nation during the year.

As usual, the big attraction is the international jumping contests, which pits the United States against teams from Mexico, France, Canada and Ireland. All except the Irish took part in the Olympics and it will be the first time since 1950 that the French have been here although they were represented by the Cadre Noir, which gave dressage exhibitions last year.

The United States, which finished third in the difficult Prix De Nations, will be represented by a civilian team of Arthur McCashin, Billy Steinkraus and Mrs. Carol Durand, the Kansas City housewife who was barred from the Olympics because she was a woman. The courses were too difficult, the officials said.

PGA Votes Boros Golfer of Year

Chicago, Nov. 4 (AP)—The dramatic rise of Julius Boros from obscurity to fame and fortune in one season today earned him professional golf's highest award.

The 32-year-old Hungarian-born swinger was selected "Professional Golfer of the Year" by the Professional Golfers' Association.

He received an overwhelming 314 votes to a poll of PGA members and sportswriters. Runner-up Sam Snead got only 36 votes.

Boros has been a professional only three years. He never won a major golf tournament, professional or amateur, until he captured the National Open title at Dallas, Tex., last June. He parlayed this championship with a number of other purses and emerged golf's leading money winner with a total of more than $37,000.

In 1950, his first year as a pro, he won less than $2,000 and in 1951 only $4,697.

The 200-pound Boros, who resides in Fairfield, Conn., was introduced to golf as a caddy and began playing seriously about 1940. He served four years in the army and after his release in 1946, concentrated on the game as an amateur. He reached the quarter-finals of the National tournament in 1949 and turned professional the following year.

Eisenhower Wins New Hampshire Towns

Sharon, N. H., Nov. 4 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower today carried this small village by better than two-to-one in what was believed to be the nation's first balloting of the 1952 presidential election.

Forty-six of Sharon's 48 eligible voters gave the Republican nominee 32 votes to 14 for Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate.

The polling place in a 185-year-old one-room schoolhouse opened at one minute past midnight and closed just seven minutes later, under a law which permits polls to close as soon as all the eligible voters available cast ballots.

One eligible voter failed to cast a ballot and the other is out of town and did not seek an absentee ballot.

In 1948, the last presidential election, Republican Thomas E. Dewey received 21 votes; President Harry Truman received four and Henry Wallace, the Progressive candidate, got two.

The New Hampshire town of Millsfield also cast its ballots minutes after midnight. It gave all its eight votes to Eisenhower. In 1948 the vote there was six for Dewey and one for Truman.

All Seven for Adlai

Cataloochee, N. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—This Haywood county precinct high up in North Carolina's Great Smoky Mountains, reported all seven of its registered voters cast their ballots for Adlai Stevenson in today's election. Five years ago President Truman received all seven votes.

Daily Compass Ceases to Satisfy Lamont Mortgage

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Daily Compass went out of business yesterday.

Ted O. Thackrey, publisher of the morning tabloid with 30,000 circulation, announced the end of publication after three and a half years.

Thackrey said the Compass' machinery and fixtures were sold at auction to satisfy a mortgage held by Corliss Lamont.

Lamont, the American Labor Party's nominee for U. S. Senator from New York in today's election, is the son of the late financier Thomas W. Lamont. The amount of the mortgage was not disclosed.

About 80 employees lost their jobs on the Compass.

Thackrey, who held all the voting stock in the newspaper, said 100 per cent of the preferred stock was held by Mrs. Emmons Blaine, 86-year-old Chicago heiress to International Harvester Company millions.

Thackrey, formerly editor of the New York Post, described the Compass' politics as "liberal crusading." The newspaper supported Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic nominee for President.

Thackrey said he had no plans beyond the closing of the Compass.

Showdown Battle Today for Control Of Next Congress

By JOHN CHADWICK

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Democrats carried a numerical advantage into the showdown battle with the Republicans today for control of the next Congress.

Victory predictions came from both sides as the voters began choosing after listening to weeks of campaign oratory.

The outcome was bound to be influenced by the Presidential race and, conversely, to have an important bearing on the success of the next President's administration.

At stake in today's balloting are 34 of the 96 Senate seats and 432 of the 435 House seats. Maine elected a Republican senator, and three GOP House members on Sept. 8.

The House, where the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 230 to 200, has rarely run counter to the Presidential race. The author said that only twice in 1848 and 1876—has an incoming President been faced by a House controlled by another party.

The Senate presents a different picture. Numerous Republican senators conceded privately that it probably would take an Eisenhower landslide for them to capture the Senate.

The Democrats now hold 49 Senate seats—the bare minimum necessary for control. But only 14 of their seats are in the Democratic south.

The Republicans have 46 seats, not counting Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon who "resigned" from the Republican party and threw his support behind Stevenson in the Presidential race.

With Morse's defection, the Republicans needed to pick up at least three seats to be assured of control of the next Senate and at the same time had to risk 21 they now hold.

One of the 21 has already been filled with the election of Republican Gov. Frederick G. Payne of Maine to succeed Sen. Owen Brewster, and Sen. William F. Knowland of California was assured of re-election by winning the Democratic as well as the Republican nomination.

The Republicans won control of both the House and the Senate in 1946 for the first time since the Hoover administration, riding into power on a wave of discontent over meat shortages and post-war economic controls, but they lost it two years later.

Laughing on the Last Lap

General and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower laugh heartily from the rear platform of their train as they arrived in Boston, Nov. 3, for the windup of Ike's presidential campaign. Welcoming the Eisenhowers to the Bay State are Christian Herter, left, Massachusetts GOP gubernatorial candidate and U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who seeks reelection.

Vote for Ike, Adlai

can national chairman, forecast the election of Eisenhower, Nixon and a Republican Congress. He added there is evidence of a "landslide" in the making.

But it was apparent that the confidence in both camps was only skin deep—and a sensitive skin at that. While expecting a relatively close popular vote, most politicians thought anything could happen in the Electoral College contest, which decides the winner.

A group of key states, including the three largest, New York, Illinois and California, apparently could swing the election either way. Besides the Big Three, which have 104 electoral votes, party strategists looked for a trend in Connecticut, 8 votes; Massachusetts, 16; Michigan, 20; Ohio, 25; Pennsylvania, 32; and Virginia, 12.

A definite trend for one candidate in these states would presage a landslide victory for him, in electoral votes, at least.

Could Affect Congress

Such a trend also could affect the vital control of Congress needed by a new President to carry out his program. All 435 members of the House are being elected this year and 34 senators are being chosen. In state races, 29 governors are being selected. Maine already has elected a GOP governor, senator, and three House members.

Although control of the House is expected to follow the presidential results, Democrats apparently have an edge in Senate contests which could keep them in command of that body if Eisenhower should win a close popular vote battle.

As the campaign ended politicians and pollsters were puzzled about where the "undecided" or silent vote would go. It seemed likely to be decisive in many states which could swing the election.

Stevenson apparently had a solid backing of labor union support, more united than ever before, along with indications that he would get a large majority of the Negro vote that might be crucial in some states.

Support Is Claimed

The Democratic nominee's backers claimed the support of many independent voters—those who don't ordinarily proclaim membership in either major party—and some of them openly swung to his standard in the closing days of the campaign.

Stevenson also was regarded as likely to get the support of many federal workers scattered over the country, whose jobs depend to some degree at least on continued control of the government by the Democrats. He also made special appeals to those who get pension and other checks from the government.

On the other hand, Eisenhower appeared to have cut into the usually Democratic south. The General was given a good chance by local politicians to carry Virginia and a lesser chance to pick up other states south of the Mason and Dixon line, where Stevenson was certain to pile up a substantial number of electoral votes.

Eisenhower was believed to have scooped up most of the agricultural Midwest, where President Truman won his surprising 1948 victory.

All the signs pointed to a strong vote for the Republican nominee based on his record as a war hero and the warmth of personality he exhibited in nearly 50,000 miles of intensive campaigning. He was

General Is Victor

John, Republican candidate for Ulster county district attorney, received 67 per cent of the poll against 27 per cent for Thomas J. Plunkett, the Democratic candidate. U. S. Senator Irving L. Ives received 70 per cent of the total at MJM against 25 per cent for John Cashmore, the Democratic candidate, and five per cent for George S. Counts, in the race for U. S. Senate.

Ahead of Normal

Gumaer said that the normal Republican poll at MJM for the past four years had been 69 per cent and Democratic, 31 per cent, pointing out that Eisenhower was running five percentage points ahead of normal and one per cent ahead of the Dewey rating when he ran for governor in 1950.

Ballots were left in each home-room and students cast their ballots when they arrived at the beginning of the day.

Vote to Rule . . .

—at Harvard and elsewhere—long before McCarthy did.

"McCarthy is no more a genuine anti-Communist than the Communists themselves were genuinely anti-Fascist."

Wechsler said of McCarthy's latest attack that the Senator "has saved his biggest lies for election eve." He denied he is one of Stevenson's "intimate advisors."

Wechsler, who has stated he joined the Young Communist League as a youth and left it after three years' membership (1934-1937), said McCarthy's statement constituted a "weird and fraudulent suggestion that my 15 years of anti-Communism, and my wife's, are proof of Communism."

Absentee Votes

(Nov. 7) and Pennsylvania (Nov. 14).

Only Brief Estimates

Only fragmentary estimates of the 1952 national absentee vote are available. There is no way of knowing what percentage it will be of the total 75,579,785 eligible vote.

The armed services have estimated that about 2½ million men and women in uniform are eligible to vote, and about 750,000 will send in absentee ballots.

The military vote will come from abroad as well as from installations scattered over the country.

New York reports 73,276 military ballots already have been cast by that state's servicemen and members of their families stationed in other areas.

No estimates available on absentee ballots distributed to New York state residents. New York city's five boroughs which include roughly half of the states voting strength says 24,387 absentee ballots were distributed, not including soldier votes. On this basis, the non-service state total might run about 40,000.

expected to run ahead of his party ticket in many states.

Despite the exhaustive personal campaigning—Stevenson traveled about 32,000 miles—both presidential aspirants placed a lot of reliance on television. Neither seemed likely to push any of the established stars off the medium but as a means of reaching millions of Americans both appeared satisfied with their efforts.

Stubborn Boston Waterfront Fire

City fireboats battle a $250,000 blaze that destroyed a two-story shed on Union Wharf in Boston. Numerous firemen were overcome by choking fumes and nearby supplies of coal and oil were endangered. Fire officials described blaze as one of Boston's worst waterfront fires. (AP Wirephoto).

Outstanding Success

Stockholm, Sweden, Nov. 4 (AP)—American singer Lilly Windsor, of Westchester county, New York, scored an outstanding success at Concert Hall here last night. "The young American soprano with a silver timbre—was excellently fitted for the Mozart motet which opened her evening," said Svenska Dagbladet. "We believe that Miss Windsor's talent will go very far in spite of today's heavy competition in her field."

of shooting in the meadows near the Malanka dumps. He was not hurt seriously.

The incident touched off a search of the meadow area. Police thought the gun might have been fired by Claus Eischen, 16, who has been missing since Oct. 26, the day before the bodies of his mother and father were found in their beds in their Kearny home. They were slain by 22 caliber bullets. Young Eischen was indicted last week on charges of murder.

Carlock was placed in the county jail in default of $1,000 bail on charges of illegal possession of dangerous weapons.
